My experience on the Veteran's Day weekend J-teen trip

My experience on the Far Rockaway Veteran's Day weekend, was very meaningful. I loved being able to help someone that I don't know because I feel that even if you don't know someone, you should always help him or her. The house I worked on wasn't that badly damaged but being able to fix it so the family that lives there can have a nice and beautiful home again. I also enjoyed hearing the certain people talk at dinner the only night we had dinner on the trip, because I made me think, wow I would love to be helping like they did. I hope I go on another J-teen trip because it was amazing for me at least to be apart of such meaningful projects. Everyone on the trip was so nice and fun to be around, it made painting and sanding the walls was so much fun because we joked around and we talked while we worked. I am very glad that my school kept sending emails about J-teen and your trips because if I didn't hear of it, I would have never been able to go on the trip, and I am glad I went.
